

MEN IN MIND IN HOPKINSVILLE

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Penny-royal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 16.

Jas. O. Cook, Former President of The State Board of Pharmacy.

Jas. O. Cook, for 28 years one of the leading business men of Hopkinsville, was born on a farm in sight of the city Oct. 16, 1872. He was educated in the city schools and in 1888, when only 16 years of age, began his business career as a drug clerk in the store of H. B. Garner, then the leading druggist of the city. He learned in the school of experience and in 1891 remained with the store of R. C. Hardwick, who succeeded Mr. Garner.

JAS. O. COOK.

He rose rapidly in prominence in the drug trade of the city and after some years opened a store of his own on the corner of Ninth and Clay streets and later moved down town to his present stand at Ninth and Main.

He served several years as a member of the State Board of Pharmacy was an examiner for three years and President of the Board for two years.

He is active in other lines of business, being a Director in the City Bank & Trust Co., and looks after his extensive real estate interest.

Mr. Cook lives with his family in a handsome new home on the corner of Virginia street and Alumni Avenue.

The picture here given is not a very recent one, but time has dealt gently with him and he is still able to pass for a young man on the sunny side of Dr. Osler's dead line of 40.

No list of Hopkinsville's wide awake progressive and public spirited business men can be made up without including Jim Cook in the list where his name would alphabetically place him—near the top.
